TOMORROW: BAKER BUTCHER RESTAURANT HOSTS A GRAND OPENING CELEBRATION AT THE FIFTH STREET PUBLIC MARKET

EUGENE, OR. Baker Butcher restaurant will host a special grand opening celebration at their location in the historic Fifth Street Public Market tomorrow October 19th from noon – 7pm. Featuring live music from KDUK’s DJ Robb, live jazz from StreetSweeper Jazz and mash-up DJ TimeLess One, patrons can enjoy complimentary bruschetta, baked goods and a chance to win gift certificates and t-shirts.

Making the move to Eugene from Los Angeles after her brother and his wife—Drew and Michelle Wattier—were seriously injured in a hit-and-run accident in Mexico in November 2012, Nicole Garrett and her husband Scott wanted to open a restaurant that celebrates family and extraordinary Italian food.

“My brother Drew’s accident brought us to Eugene and watching him recover gave us a lot of motivation,” says Nicole Garrett, co-owner of Baker Butcher. “Great food brings family and friends together and we wanted to share that homemade style with Eugene.”

Using the best available produce, cheeses, seafood, beef, pork and chicken, Baker Butcher and Chef Garrett Kirsch (formerly of Eugene’s b2 Wine Bar) present a hearty selection of soups, salads, lunch plates, sandwiches and entrée courses. With a focus on local, organic ingredients, dishes are always genuine, always fresh and always delicious.

“Italian food is simple, inspired and filled with quality ingredients,” says Marissa Ooyevaar, Marketing and Events Coordinator for the Fifth Street Public Market. “Nicole and Scott have really done an outstanding job creating dishes that are full of flavor and we’re thrilled to have them open here at the Market.”

Baker Butcher is open Monday-Thursday 11am – 7pm, Friday-Saturday 9am – 8pm and Sunday 8am – 5pm in the International Cafés food court at the historic Fifth Street Public Market in downtown Eugene, 296 East Fifth Avenue. Open for breakfast Friday-Sunday.
